

THE LAND OF THE LONG WHITE CLOUD

.... this is how the Maoris named their newly discovered home when they first arrived in New Zealand 3000 years ago. We have experienced many miracles of nature during our 6 weeks of travelling. The country is full of contrasts: the North Island offers amongst other things wildly romantic islands, impressive volcanic landscapes and picturesque vineyards.

The South Island is sparsely populated and offers magnificent alpine peaks covered in glaciers, dense jungle regions and desert like high plateaus. The coastline varies from enormous fjords to isolated beaches where one can imagine the devastating force of the ocean. This pristine Nature is home to many animals such as sperm whales, dolphins, seals and large numbers of birds.

Our multimedia presentation will also show you impressions and lifestyles of remote villages as well as dynamic cities like Auckland, Wellington and Christchurch. The Maoris and their rich culture are also worthy of our attention.
